
Quilt Dreamers

VOLUME 79 –NOVEMBER 2009

President's Letter

Thanks again to Stephanie for all her hard work with the newsletter, etc. We wish her the very best in her new home. The signature blocks for Stephanie will be at the November meeting. A big THANKS to Cindy for assembling the newsletter for us.

“How Does Your Garden Grow” is the theme Valynda Machen selected for the 2010 Quilt Dreamers Small Quilt Auction. There are a few members who have already completed their project! Don't despair, the show isn't until March 20th.

Great news! Jean Loken was given a large fabric donation from Sandi Irish of IGH (Designer for Timeless Treasures). Most of the pieces are 12" x 16". Lots of kids' designs. This will be a great addition to our kits.

Judy Leshovsky has tallied the results and we have winners for our Paint Chip Challenge. We'll have to wait until our December Christmas party for the results. Thanks to everyone who participated!

After cleaning out a drawer or two, I have several Moda quilt patterns to give out at our November meeting. FREE! Hope to see you at the meeting.

Enjoy!!

Food for the October Meeting – Liz Tarr

Many of us will be gathering with friends and family this month for Thanksgiving dinner. Please bring a dish that has been passed down in your family and let's give thanks for those family members that gave us those recipes. This is also your chance to have your family's traditional recipes included in the Quilt Dreamer's recipes. Send recipes you want included to me at lizquilts@charter.net.

Quilt Layering Update – Joyce Fagerness

We were a very busy group in October. We layered 15 more quilt tops and lots of quilts got tied. We still have a large amount of quilts to tie and we are slowly catching up. It was fun to see the Paint Chip Challenge Quilts. There were a couple of simple patterns that could be use for kits. I think we could use some new patterns so if you made a top that was easy to cut and sew, can you either bring it to the meeting or send me the pattern? Thanks. I noticed a couple of tops were made with a different ruler(s) - perhaps we could have a demonstration at one of our meetings on how to use them. The blocks for Stephanie's quilt were found after the meeting so I will bring them and those of you that haven't signed one can do so then. See you next week.

Basket Blocks – Marion Draeger

A quick note that I can't be at the November meeting. As a result, we'll postpone working on the basket blocks that Quilter's Haven donated. I hope to do some work on them this month, however. Does anyone have any leftovers from the two basket-block finishing kits they would like to donate to the guild for finishing the quilts?

2010 Bag Lady Quilt Show – Gwen Lundgren

It seems a bit early to be planning the March show, but I am excited to be the Show Chair and want to be sure I don't goof up. Your assignment for this month is to turn in any folders you have from the position you had at the last show. Please get them to Carol Jacobson or to me, as soon as possible. If neither of us is at the meeting, then place them on the top shelf of the left storage cabinet with other show items. If you will doing the same job, then you can keep the folder, but be sure it is up to date with a report from the 2009 show.
